

Washington Racing Meet May Be a Farewell Performance This Fall

BENNING BOOKIES REJOICE

Davis Decision Gratifies Prospective Layers at Washington Meet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Racing men are tickled to death over the decision of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals to the effect that the case against William Davis for bookmaking may be continued.

This means that the bookmakers may do business at Benning, and practically assure a successful meeting. While, of course, the whole purpose of horse racing is to improve the breed of horses, it is incidentally a fact that a race meet without the layer of odds is very much like pork chops without salt.

There will be a goodly attendance of regulars from the metropolitan tracks for the Benning meet, which would not have been the case had there been no opportunity to pick winners.

There has been much complaint for a week or two of foul riding on the metropolitan tracks. The stewards are to blame for this. The jockeys are boys and anxious for the big rewards which come with the riding of winners. They realize when they can take liberties and when not, and it is safe to say that there has been more foul riding in the last week or two than in the six weeks preceding.

Disqualifications are unsatisfactory, but there were a number of cases in which the boys could have been punished without setting a horse back, and a salutary lesson taught. In the interest of the sport these boys should be held to strict accountability.

The old question of raising the scale of jockey weights is again to the fore. It is given added interest just now by the number of fine riders who have been driven from the American turf by the low scale.

During the past decade America has lost some of her most brilliant jockeys because the weight scale here would not allow them to have more than an occasional mount, and the consequence has been that the riders were forced to seek their occupations and fortunes in foreign climes.

Among these are Danny Maher, the greatest rider England has known since Fred Archer's day; Fred Taral, Henry Spencer, "the Iceman," Nat Turner, Harry Lewis, Tony Hamilton, now dead; Tommy Burns, Winnie O'Connor, and a host of other brilliant knights of the pignus.

It was not that these boys had outlived their usefulness by any means, for they went right over to England and Europe, and all made successes.

Another brilliant rider whose days in the saddle are numbered is Walter Miller. Within the past two years Miller has taken on considerable weight, until now he finds it impossible to ride lighter than 162 pounds. A year ago or so he could do ninety pounds. Jack Martin, who is as good a horseman in the saddle as one can find throughout the country because of his weight—about 110 pounds—now only gets a mount perhaps once or twice a week, scarcely enough to keep him in practice. Dave Nicol is another of our good riders whose riding career is very limited, and the same may be said of Radtke and Knapp.

It is rare these days for a horse to be in the money in two races the same day. At Jamaica Tuesday Eugene Wyland started J. F. Donohue twice, in the second race at a mile and a sixteenth, and again in the fifth, where the route was a mile and a half.

The Onondaga colt took second place in the first effort, and third in the fifth race, but his manner of finishing out in the second race was almost conclusive evidence that had he been reserved for the fifth alone he would have earned brackets.

J. F. Donohue is the first runner to try in two races on the same day this fall, but such instances are not rare. The cases of Ogden and Sydney Lucas are notable in recent turf history.

The former, after two years in retirement, came back a good horse, and even twice in an afternoon, once at six furlongs, and later at a mile and a sixteenth.

The most remarkable instance of stamina in the history of the American turf was that of John C. Stevens' Black Maria, a long lifetime ago. In October, 1832, Black Maria won a race of four-mile heats over the Union course on Long Island, in which five heats were necessary to achieve victory. Wonderful over a heavy track this Black Maria won the first heat, dead-beat the second, second in the third, second in the fourth and won the fifth, running a total distance of twenty miles.

Black Maria was on the turf six years; started twenty-five times and won thirteen races. Eleven of her contests were three and four mile heats.

Big Crowds, Poor Races At Pimlico

Cold Rain Interferes With Events at Baltimore Meeting.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 2.—Racing was carried on at Pimlico this afternoon under most discouraging conditions.

A cold driving rain fell all the while, keeping everybody under cover, and for a part of the time a heavy fog settled down shutting out all view of the races except at the finish.

The track was a sea of slop. The attendance was surprisingly good under the conditions. An unusually good card had been provided with several features which should have brought out a big crowd had fair weather prevailed.

Of the features the race for the Carrollton Cup was expected to be a big drawing card. It brought out the best of the gentlemen riders of this section, and a good field of horses. Courtney Smith, Bob Taylor, Tommy Wright, Mr. Davis, and Mr. Tucker, all very clever in the saddle, had the mounts. The talent was something at sea to locate the winner, and Lord Badge, Cloten, and Herman Johnson were all about equal favorites. The result of the race was unfortunate. Note-Knip being disqualified after finishing first.

Lord Badge Furnishes First.

When the barrier went up in this race Herman Johnson went to the front, and out on the race. He hung onto the stretch, where he tired. Here Bob Taylor brought Note-Knip up and took the lead. At the sixteenth pole Lord Badge loomed up dangerously, and Mr. Taylor went to the whip on Note-Knip. The gelding under pressure swerved over in front of Lord Badge, and coming on a big crowd had fair weather prevailed.

Disqualifications are unsatisfactory, but there were a number of cases in which the boys could have been punished without setting a horse back, and a salutary lesson taught. In the interest of the sport these boys should be held to strict accountability.

Bloomingdale Indorses Cross-Country Event

Club Holds Initial Meeting and Outlines Campaign.

At a meeting Friday evening the Bloomingdale track athletes outlined plans for the coming year on the cinder path, and from present observations, as far as the Bloomingdale are concerned, it should prove to be the best in the six years' history of the club.

Last season the club boys were in two relay races, one with the Gurley Athletic Club, when they were barely defeated at the National Guard games, and one with Aloysius and Tremont teams, which Bloomingdale won easily. Of last year's squad the R street athletes will have Farmer, who is possibly the best runner who represented the red and black in the indoor meets last spring, and Turner, and White, for the relay team, while Bernie Corridan will be the standby for the distance events.

W. T. Conboy, who ran for Emerson Institute last season, and J. B. Colley, who was third in the 800-yard dash at the Washington Grove games this year, and who has been training hard all winter, are the ones to watch. They are to do their running tests in a few weeks. There is plenty of raw material in the club this year, and several other good men should develop presently.

Bloomingdale favors the cross-country run for junior clubs and organizations. The National Capital Rifle and Revolver Club is a member of the National Rifle Association of America, the parent organization of all civilian rifle and revolver clubs. Its members have the privilege of shooting in national matches and having their scores kept on record by the War Department and also the privilege of being enrolled at the War Department as national marksmen.

The Washington matches are held under the following conditions: Twenty shots a man, twenty yards; standard American target reduced; military revolvers, any ammunition; each string of five shots to be fired in two minutes. The National Capital Club has offered a cup, the team taking the best three out of five matches will keep the trophy.

At present there are twenty trying to make the team that will shoot the next match. The scores of each person are kept and the ten having the highest scores at the end of the trials will make up the team. Among the most promising who are out for the team are Lieutenant Ferree, Farrow, Summers, Policeman Bunn, one of the most noted shots with a revolver in the country; Policeman Buckingham, Bischoff, Morris, Reichelderfer, Macdaniel, Heidenreich, and Alderman. The trials will be held every Monday night at 8 o'clock in the shooting gallery at Fifth and L streets northwest. The gallery will be open to the public, and those interested in rifle work can shoot, or, in fact, any citizen has the privilege of trying for the team. Tomorrow night being the first night for trials, it is expected that many enthusiasts will turn out.

REVOLVER EXPERTS HOLDING TRIALS

National Capital Club Seeks Baltimore Scalp.

At the shooting gallery, at Fifth and L streets northwest, tomorrow night the National Capital Rifle and Revolver Club, an incorporated organization of this city, will commence practicing for the second of a series of five shooting matches with the Baltimore Revolver Association to decide the intercity championship of revolver clubs.

The first match was shot in Baltimore and was lost by the Washington team by the score of 1,332 to 1,353 out of a possible 2,000, neither team doing its best shooting. The Washington organization is composed of civilians, policemen, and National Guard members, all of whom are expert marksmen, and in the next match, which will be held on November 30, expect to defeat the Baltimoreans.

FAVORITES FAIL TO MAKE GOOD AT AQUEDUCT

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, N. Y., Nov. 2.—All of $100,000 was won by the bookmakers today on the Aqueduct Handicap, the feature of the opening day of the fall meeting here.

The public sent in its money in great chunks on Nealon, Monfort, and Far West. None of them got a smell of the money. Brookdale Nymph, at 5 to 1, led all the way after the first sixteenth of a mile and won with something to spare from Monfort, which was all but left at the post. Gretchen Green was third.

King Cobalt, the Caesarian colt, owned by the Brownleigh Park stable, was added at the last moment to the field in the Creedmoor Stake for the juveniles, and was beaten by a length and a half of length by him and Bery Maid, the second horse. Spooner, the heavily played even-money favorite, finished third.

Okenite, Odds On, Beaten.

The opening race of the meeting proved a Waterloo for the favorite players. Okenite was made a 7 to 10 favorite, and the wise men went down in large waves, forcing the odds to 12 to 1. Okenite could not get out of his own way in the first four furlongs. Kilter, at 8 to 1, swung into the lead at the head of the stretch and finished six lengths in front of Okenite.

Harvard Barely Escapes Defeat By Single Point

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 2.—Harvard escaped defeat at the hands of Brown University this afternoon by a margin of one point in about two minutes.

With the score 5 to 0 against them and the half almost over, the Crimson braced and executed a brilliant forward pass which took the oval to the 5-yard line. From this position Rockwood was dragged across for touchdown, and Burr kicked an easy goal, making the final score Harvard, 6; Brown, 5.

The first half ended 5 to 0, with Harvard outplayed and outkicked. Twice the Crimson had the ball within Brown's 5-yard line, only to lose it.

In the second half Brown found a weak spot in Harvard's line just outside of tackle, and by a series of line plunges sent McDougal over for a touchdown. The angle was a difficult one, however, and he missed a goal. This miss saved Harvard from a tie.

E. H. S. RECORDS BROKEN IN MUD

Blackford's Running in Half and Quarter Remarkable.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 2.—Athletic games were held this morning at the Episcopal High School in spite of the bad weather.

Many ladies from Washington and elsewhere graced the occasion, and the meet was a great success. Music was furnished by an excellent band, and the events were run off with a celerity which was commendable. The muddy track prevented fast going, but in spite of this the school record for the half-mile was lowered from 2:18.5 to 2:11.4 by R. F. Blackford, and the quarter-mile record of 55.4 was equaled by the same man.

Most of the finishes were close. The meet was between the Fairfax and the Blackford societies of the intense. A few years ago a handsome cup was offered for the society which should be the permanent property of the school. Last year Fairfax got it on the cup, and today this society, by winning again, obtained it for good.

The all-around work of Talbot T. Pendleton was the big feature. This young athlete carried off four first places and two seconds, by doing which he easily won the handsome trophy awarded by the principal each year to the best track athlete. L. D. White (Fairfax) and R. F. Blackford (Fairfax) tied for second place in individual prowess, with 10 points each.

The prizes were gracefully presented by Miss Beatrice Crawford, of Gunston School.
